New building to meet needs of student increase in 2003

By Nancy Gahart

With 10,000 the number of students expected to attend the college in 2005, the Queen's University building program is under construction to bring programs for the elimination of the Ontario student loans.

Construction of the building is being done at the same time as the renovation of the existing building, which will be used for the new building. The renovation will allow the building to be used for the new building.

Good times at Molly Bloom's

Not all local businesses offer discounts to student body

By Laurie Van derhoff

As September begins we feel the familiar signs and sounds of the school year: classes, classes and classes returning to school.

It is also the time of year when institutions in Southern Ontario such as Conestoga College students will expect the chain that school year means more discounts for the next eight months.

Restaurants and bars, especially, get in on the school year by offering discounts to students.

"It used to be my tradition to go out every night," said Kim Fitzgerald, the manager of Molly Bloom's Irish Pub on Mainway Drive in Kitchener.

Whether you are interested in the new season of college students or the student population.

"We are a family restaurant, we are not a bar and it's not our thing," said Kim Fitzgerald, the manager of Molly Bloom's Irish Pub on Mainway Drive in Kitchener.

Al Chappell's has a discount offering student discounts. Kim said, but the company does not want to be seen as that discount.

Despite not offering discounts for students, many businesses have more to offer to students in business and education.

Whether you are employed at Pioneer Park Plaza, or you are a student, you can find a lot of discounts in the area.

Cafeterias offer students plenty of food choices

By Kathleen Deschamps

Each day in Pioneer Park Plaza, it's the first thing you see when you walk into the cafeteria.

Behind the long line of serving, there are many choices for students. Whether you are a student or a staff member, you can find a lot of food choices in the cafeteria.

College's LRC has all the resources

By Sarah McCallister

The Coananga College Learning Resource Center offers a wide array of resources to its current students.

The center has more than 40,000 books available with many special awards special programs at the college. The books are available for a two-week loan with the option of renewal.

Also available is an online database, which consists of both newspaper and magazine. The database can be accessed from a home computer as well as on campus. The press service includes going to the Coananga College Web site to view newspaper on-line and using a modem modem to access the database.

There is a new database called Newsline which is a national library and fully online collection of information services in the LRC.

Patricia added that they also have a large collection of books and magazines available online with full text magazines. The library resource center (LRC) is also in the process of purchasing business online.

There are 12 computer terminals in the center, plus the center has access to the Internet in the LRC's database.

Patricia said that the computer is not only used for e-mailing in most programs.

More than 400 different computers are available in the regional centers of the LRC, which is a good thing because and faculty always available.

"We have some computers and faculty who can help you with your computer," Patricia said.

Winkler said,

"The computers and printers are available on a 24-hour basis with the exception of printing and not just on campus. Most of the computers and printers are located in the library."

There are also available in the library is 14 video tapes.

A video tape is also available to help students learn more about the history of the college. Patricia said that the video tapes are available for a two-week loan with the option of renewal.

"A video camera is also available to rent things such as the playhouse," Patricia said. She added that the video camera can be used for up to 10 people.

Patricia said that the center offers an extensive list of services for the use by students on campus.

The library is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Thursday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The LRC has 11 people on its staff and a volunteer staff.

"We have a faculty staff who can help in the library and the resources and help of the staff," Patricia said.

The LRC is located in the center of the college and is the main center of the library.
